This Year

of Our Lives

June 10, 1955

Though brief as compared with the centuries of time, this year was important because it was another step in the preparation of ourselves, as individuals, to assume a position in the world. In this year, we have gained knowledge and we have become more qualified to deal with the problems of life. The year has contained many happy experiences: We all danced on clouds at the prom; we cheered and urged our teams on to victory at the games; we sat with awe and expectancy at the wonderful dramatic productions; we were calmed by the serene music of our own musical groups—yes, we have had a full year, and a very valuable one. The most renowned instructor, EXPERIENCE, has tutored us in many golden lessons.

This has also been another year in the life of our school. Being the mother of South Bend schools, it once contained the office of the Superintendent of Schools. Central was a very small schoolhouse and has grown into a very large structure. This is Central's eighty-fifth year as a high school. As we stroll leisurely down the beloved halls, we observe many changes that have taken place during the year. There is the attractive redecoration of many parts of the school, the varnishing of the stage floor, the new piano in the glee club room, and many others. In these many new improvements, our school is growing in a new and better way and has attained a place in the educational foundation of our nation.

This, another year in our lives, has also been another year in the life of our nation. From the battle of Valley Forge through the familiar battles of Korea, our men have paid the great price of blood, sweat, and tears for our freedom. We are greatly indebted to them for their efforts and it is our task to preserve the priceless heritage they have won for us.

The time is drawing near when we will have to carry on the affairs of our nation In this year of our lives we have prepared ourselves so that we might continue to make our nation a citadel of democracy with liberty and justice for all.

Herein Ye Shall Find . . .

Education

During this year we continued our education. Most of us acquired a taste for education. All of us gained something no one can take away.

Athletics

This year we were very proud of our teams; proud of their good sportsmanship, their integrity, their will to win, and their won-lost records.

Faculty

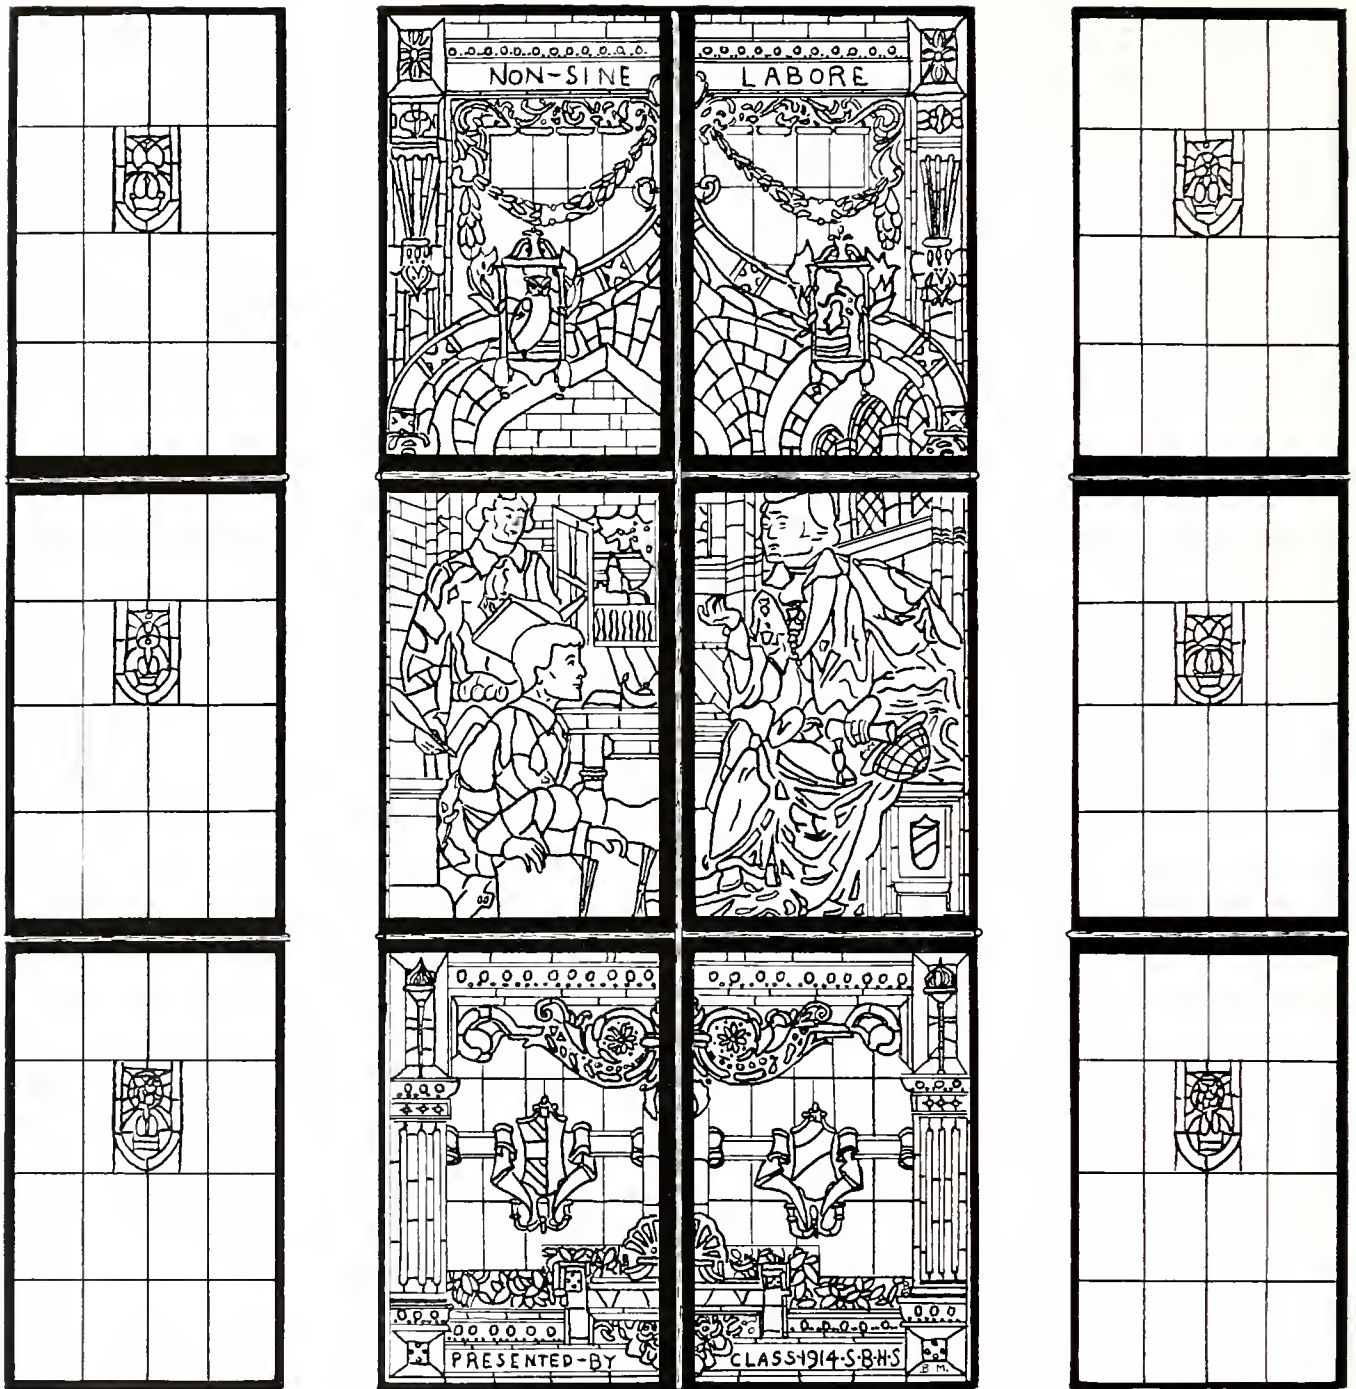

This year they were probably much the same as in other years, but because they were ours — not our older brothers, 'sisters,' or friends' — each was someone very special to us.

Seniors

This is the year which we have been anticipating — the conclusion of one stage and the beginning of another . . . the saying of good-bye to fond memories and dreaming and planning for the future.

Underclassmen

These were the years of growing up — getting to know one another and making new friends. Yes, these were the years of learning to be good citizens.

Central's tradition of fine sportsmanship, a high academic standard, good citizenship, character, and integrity began when she graduated her first small class many years ago. We, of today, should contribute to this tradition, which has been so carefully preserved through the years. We should consider our stained glass window and the ideals it portrays. Most important of all we should hold fast to our motto—"We will keep faith" — as citizens of our school, our state, and our nation.

This Year in Our Classes . . .

We tried to catch up with the Past and prepare for the Future

The students in the speech class play a variety of roles: they are the after-dinner speakers, the toastmasters, or the panelists, according to the assignment.

The French students shown above are enjoying a well-deserved Christmas party. Along with verbs and pronouns, the language students learned the customs and histories of other countries.

Members of the foods class watch two culinary artists prepare vegetables; only one of the ways in which they learn to be good cooks.

The shop students are known throughout the city for their skill in machine work.

Watching a pulley experiment are two physics students. The involved experiments and rugged tests made this class difficult, but interesting.

The creative writing class soon found that group discussion of themes was much better than individual criticism.

Advanced biology . . . a training ground for future nurses, medical technicians, foresters, and zoologists.

First-year-biology . . . where some freshmen first became interested in this field of study.

Students in this class found that World History has quite a bit to do with today.

A GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

PORTER

The art students were responsible for many of the backdrops which added so much to the Barnstormers' plays.

The bracelets, rings, and ceramics made by the arts and crafts class were admired by the entire school.

These students learned to make books balance to the last cent.
Many of them put their knowledge to an on-the-job test.

Should I go to college or get a job? Would math be a good major for me?
Understanding guidance teachers helped us with these and many other problems.

The strains of music from the band room often broke through the stillness of the day.

Our library is a quiet place where one can study, do research work, read the latest magazines or an exciting novel.

The operation of this machine is not so complicated as it appears. The difficult part is knowing how to choose the right candidate. Civics students learned to do both.

Tumbling develops muscles and a sense of balance, as well as being loads of fun.

Girls! Show a little more life! The other team will beat you at this rate.

Auto Shop . . . hot-rods . . . weird paint jobs.

Printing class . . . practical . . . lots of fun.

Just a Peek... in, out, and roundabout

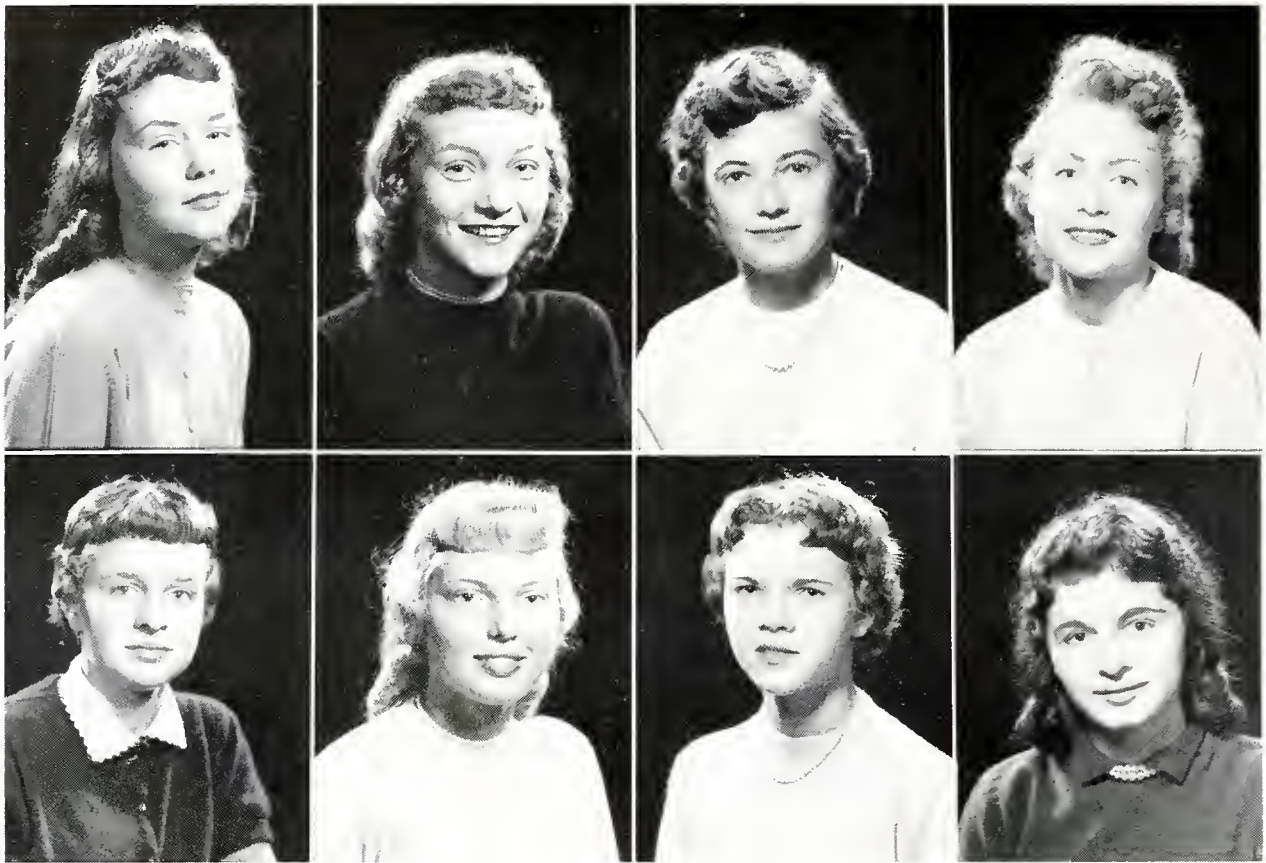

You really had to be spry to get in the first part of the cafeteria line on "Turkey Days."

Whew! Just made the last bus. Boy did I have a neat date Saturday night. Hey how about a loan? So goes the locker chatter at 8:15 a. m.

The tired old building renews her energy during Christmas vacation while all her inmates are expending theirs.

Marty Waggoner, Rosemary Goodling, Jane Goff, Carol Ann Campbell, Sharla Tubbs, Carol Brockman, Nancy Dumont, and Queen Marilyn Miller were on the Mishawaka Day Queen's Court.

It seems a shame to spend so many hours cutting paper and sleeping on floats in order to guard them — just to burn them up in the end. But who would miss it?

The busy student helpers in the front office did much to keep the school running smoothly . . . filing, running the switchboard, and typing.

The Band had a good reason to step smartly; they worked hard for those new uniforms.

Seniors get first choice at the ticket window. You'd better hurry if you want a ticket to the big game.

Seniors danced in a very lively manner to the beat of a jazz band composed of students. Flying feet caused sore ankles the next morning.

The mambo, the chicken, the jitterbug, and the bunnyhop . . . these were our favorites at the many exciting dances of the year.

This year, Activities kept us hopping

Hard working band officers kept the band marching.

The BAND added so much to football games, pep assemblies, and parades.

This versatile ORCHESTRA played both classical pieces and pop tunes well.

Three cheers for Sylvia . . . she won a chair in the South Bend Symphony Orchestra.

Practice makes perfect, but it's not all work.

If you ever stayed after school, you would have heard the CHANSONETTES practicing long after everyone else had gone.

The GLEE CLUB soloists rose with the birds in order to make their performances more perfect and more enjoyable.

Everyone enjoyed the beautiful assemblies given by the GLEE CLUB.

The USHERS crawled under the bleachers to find our lost gloves and scarves, showed us our seats at games and plays, and kept us off the basketball floor.

The most vocal group in the school ranked first in several tournaments. Do not try to argue with the DEBATE TEAM, you cannot win.

MOVIE PROJECTIONISTS, the boys that showed those rare, but well-enjoyed and certainly looked-forward-to movies.

The JR. ACHIEVERS learned a great deal . . . how to paint, balance books, write copy for an advertisement, and to sell.

Beware a JR. ACHIEVER selling stock, tickets to a dance, or a product. He will not take no for an answer. Seriously though, you made a good buy.

HI-Y, the brother organization of the Tri Hi-Y, benefited Central and South Bend by their worthy projects.

The JR. Y-TEENS enrich their living and do their share in building a better community while they have fun together.

The FUTURE NURSES organization interests girls in the medical field while they do various community projects.

The TRI HI-Y is of great service to our community. As these girls serve others, they have a good time together.

STUDENT COUNCIL . . .

Government in action. Shown in a quiet nook of the library are the capable officers who calmed the overly enthusiastic legislators and encouraged the shy ones. They were Joanne Beahm, Danny O'Donnell, Nancy Dumont, and Bob Governs.

The representatives, shown in a quieter pose than usual, had many responsibilities . . . Mishawaka Day, Council Elections, and after-game dances.

The Foreign Exchange Drive, sponsored by the Student Council will bring a foreign student to Central and send a Centralite overseas.

Boost the Bears with the BOOSTER CLUB! The Executive Board was responsible for the huge paper hoops at the basketball games.

The tumbling tumbleweeds (TUMBLERS CLUB) floated through the air with the greatest of ease.

These young Einsteins exchanged their chemistry, physics, and biology knowledge in SCIENCE CLUB to their mutual advantage.

If you tore a magazine, they fixed it. The diligent LIBRARY CLUB took time out to have a Halloween party.

The

They worked behind the scenes . . . brought in the news, sold subscriptions, and passed out the papers.

This finished product looks good, doesn't it? The news, Aunt Verie, feature articles, and Cubskin make good reading.

Make those fingers fly! The copy has to be in by 4 o'clock. The typists are an essential link in the chain of workers who put out the paper.

Interlude...

the inside story

Mail the copies, check the sales for today, prepare the dummy for the next issue, send out the bills, write and rewrite . . . these people are busy.

Here come the papers! The news in a bundle, delivered by the printer and carried to the Interlude office by Editor-in-chief Terry Plunkett and Sports Editor Bob Jones.

"I'll take first floor." "No, I want first." The Circulation Manager, Betty Oursler, is shown passing out the home room lists to Bob Jones and Janice Andreen.

The business staff wore out their shoe leather selling advertising and their lungs selling subscriptions.

This year in a book

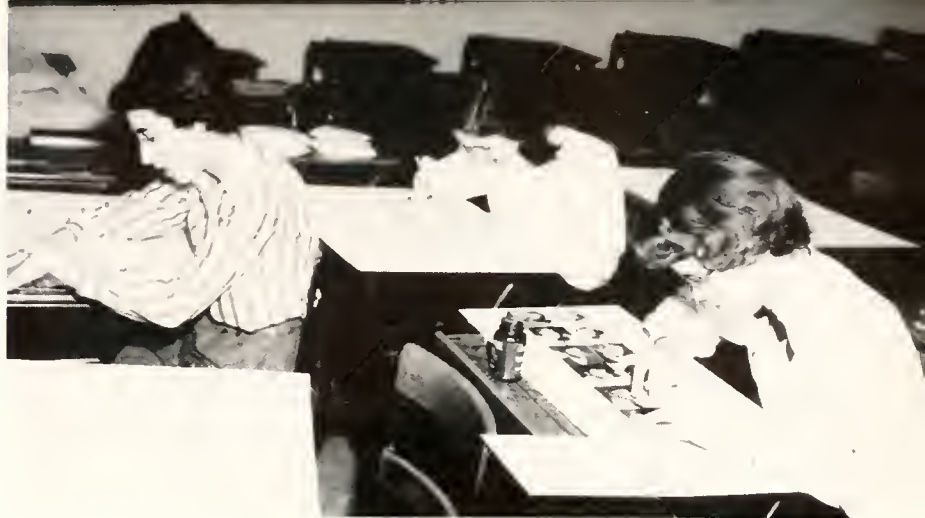

"Are you sure that is the right name? Is it spelled correctly?" Marlene Kazmierzak is shown preparing the senior copy.

The various section heads and a replica of the cover gave students a preview of the Yearbook.

Cut and paste . . . wipe off the fingerprints . . . send the senior section to the engraver. These people were working while the rest of Central was enjoying Christmas vacation.

. . . The Yearbook

These lively teenagers decided to buy the Yearbook in a skit which initiated the subscription drive to the student body.

Taking and selling underclass pictures was the task of Barbara and Kathy Wright. As you can see, there is more to making a Yearbook than meets the casual eye.

The Coo d Or fascinated the students with his graceful and bizarre performance.

Barnstormers

The background gained in Barnstormers to become members of summer stock groups have trodden the boards in a legitimate and assurance from their experience.

The Barnstormers learned to apply their own costumes, to evaluate the stage settings, to direct and produce of work, but pride in a job well done, provided more than adequate compensation.

The Queen of the Air and her attendants captivated us with their exotic dancing.

The forefathers of our country . . . their problems, errors, and inspirations were presented in "The Patriots." Dan Millar portrayed Washington, Dick Dunbar and Tom Prebys alternated in the roles of Jefferson and Monroe, and Dwight Oberholtzer played Hamilton.

The beautiful performance of "Amahl" did much to remind us of the real meaning of Christmas. Thornton Schwenk played the part of Amahl, Suzanne Holderead played the part of the Mother, and Doug Gatton portrayed Kasper, one of the Three Kings.

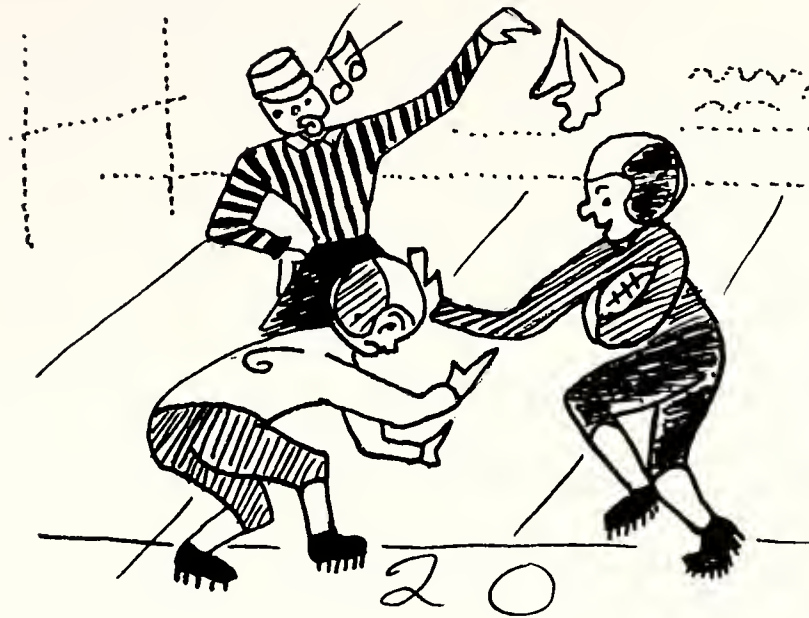

Shown are the Spanish and English booths of the Vanity Fair scene of Pilgrim's Progress, which was an all-city production.

Christian and Hopeful are condemned in the Vanity Fair scene. Christian and Hopeful were portrayed by Dwight Oberholtzer and Zanette Gregory, both Central students.

This Year in Sports

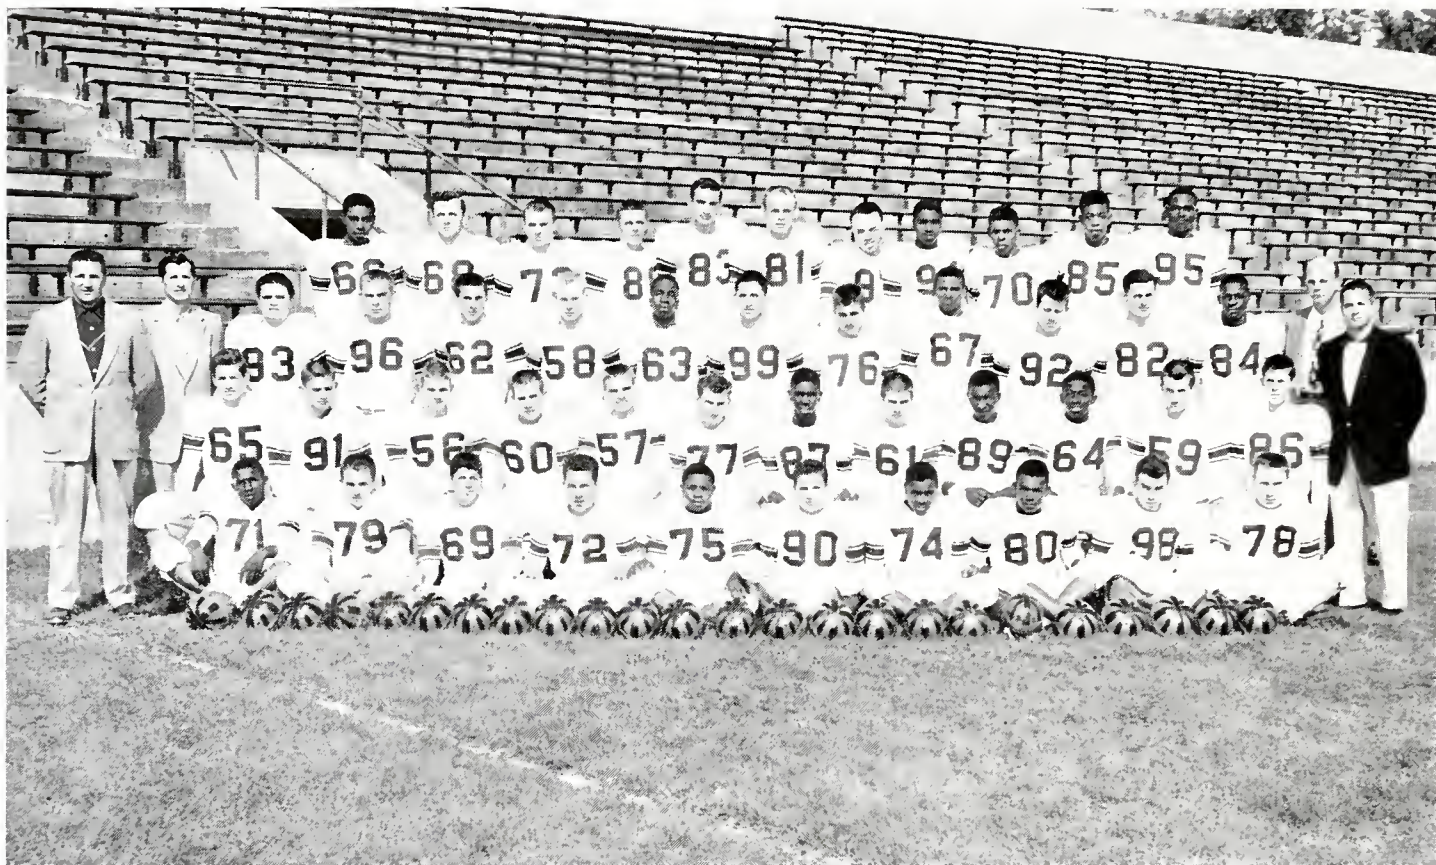

Coach Bob Jones' Bruins succumbed to Gary Roosevelt by the score of 6-0 in the initial game of the season.

Playing on a rain-soaked field, the teams failed to score until the Panthers mustered a touchdown with just three minutes remaining in the contest. The Bears fumbled on their fifteen and just three plays later Gary scored on their only completed pass of the showery evening.

The Varsity

For the first time in football history Fort Wayne defeated Central as the Bruins suffered their second successive setback, 13-6.

The Bears wasted no time in scoring as Jim Zielinski countered with just 2:39 having elapsed in the opening quarter. Highlight of the drive, which started from the Central twenty-three, was a fifty-seven yard sprint by Ronnie Janowczyk. Poor punts set up both Redskin scores.

A blocked punt proved the margin of victory as Central rolled to its first victory of the season over a highly favored Mishawaka eleven by the score of 14-13.

The Bears scored midway in the first period when Ron Janowczyk bulled over from the three. The Cavemen scored early in the second period with Deal going over. Otha Lake scored for Central early in the second half on a seventeen yard sprint. When Mishawaka scored in the final period the stage was set for John Beissel's block.

Washington's Panthers proved just too much for the Bears to handle as they defeated Coach Jones' men, 26-7, before 8,000 onlookers.

Taking advantage of a fumble on the opening kickoff, the Bears scored early in the quarter with fullback Otha Lake barreling over from the two. The lead proved short lived, though, as Washington soon tied the score. Three second-half touchdowns by Washington brought the final count to 26-7.

Playing in a steady downpour and on a flooded gridiron, the Bears sloshed to a 6-0 victory over the Fort Wayne Central Catholic Irish.

The only score of the game came on a twenty-six yard jaunt by quarterback Gene Strozewski in the second quarter. The Bears completely dominated the contest, as evidenced by only one first down for the Irish.

Again playing in the rain and mud, the Bears had to be content with a 13-13 tie with Adams, even though they led almost the entire game. Dan Mathews scored as the Bears tallied the first time they had their hands on the ball. Moments later, after a fumble by Baird, Otha Lake rammed over from the one. Adams scored both touchdowns in the last six minutes of the game.

Displaying their most potent offense of the season, the Bruins rolled over the Goshen Redskins, 34-6, on snow-covered Forman field.

Tom Redding scored early in the first period on a ninety-two yard sustained drive. With Redding and Mathews scoring in the second period, the Bears had an easy time of it. Ron Janowczyk and Gene Strozewski made the final two touchdowns for the Bruins.

Playing fine football for all but eighteen seconds of the game, Central trounced the Elkhart Blue Blazers, 12-6.

On the opening kickoff Don Barber galloped eighty-nine yards for the touchdown for the Blazers. Midway in the second period, Gene Strozewski scored for the Bears from the two. Tom Redding broke up the ball game as he dashed fifty-nine yards for the score with just five minutes of play left.

Playing inspired football, Central came within one touchdown of defeating the Riley Wildcats in the final game of the season.

Fred Odusch and Dick Vincek both scored touchdowns as Riley built up a 13-0 lead. Midway through the third period, the Bears started a sustained drive from their own four. With Gene Strozewski running for gains of thirty-eight and forty-eight yards, the Bears mustered a score. The game ended with Riley the victor, 13-7.

Coach Ross Stephenson plans half-time strategy with the Bears in the hopes that the "chalk talk" will pay dividends. It did, as the Bruins went on to upset the Mishawaka Maroons, 14-13.

The Bears score one of their two touchdowns against Elkhart as Gene Strozewski bulls over from the one. Final score of the thrilling contest which was played at School Field was Central 12, Elkhart 6.

Pigskin tenseness mounts as mud and rain fly. Coach Joe Mackowiak, Manager Ronnie Minkow, and Head Coach Bob Jones view the action of the Central-Adams clash with tight lips. Result: Central 13, Adams 13.

"Programs, programs, anyone want a program." Members of the Booster Club Executive Board are busily engaged in selling programs at the Adams game.

John Coalman wins tip as Central surprises East Chicago Washington, 65-46. Other identifiable players are Lee McKnight 44, Dale Rems 55.

Where's the ball? It is on its way through the hoop. Danny O'Donnell hits for two as Central downs East Chicago.

Coach Elmer McCall plots strategy as his Bear cagers listen intently during a timeout.

In or out? That is the thought on center Dale Rem's mind as he waits with Wilson Eison of Gary Roosevelt for the ball.

The 1954-55 basketball season was mainly a rebuilding year for the Elmer McCall coached Bears. Though playing one of the rougher schedules of Hoosier prep teams, nevertheless the "Whiz Kids," as they were sometimes called, did manage to amass a record of ten wins against eleven losses.

Losing their first two games against "rated" teams—Gary Roosevelt and Hammond—the Bears then went on to whip East Chicago and Logansport. Thus was the story of the season—win one, lose one.

Seniors Danny O'Donnell and Leland Yockey were the main stars of the team, while juniors Dale Rems, Jessie Bush, Dick Holdeman, and sophomores Herb Lee, Lee McKnight, and John Coalmon all played excellent ball at times. High scorer for the year was Herb Lee with a 16 point average. Danny O'Donnell won both the Kiwanis award for scholarship, sportsmanship, and citizenship, and the Gold award for the most valuable all around player on the team.

"Three Cheers for Central High School." The school song is ably played by the pep band before game time.

Trainer Otto Neilson tapes Leland Yockey's ankle before the game. Yockey was star playmaker on the Bear quintet.

PURPOSES OF G.A.A.

It offers opportunities for participation in a wide variety of sport activities.

It promotes a keener interest in the health and development of its members.

It fosters the spirit of good sportsmanship and fair play in all undertakings.

Volleyball, basketball, table tennis, camp-outs, and swimming — all of these were a part of a G.A.A.'s life. Besides participating in sports, the girls treated the boys to their annual football and basketball banquets and decorated the goal posts with blue and orange crepe paper. The wonder women of future Olympics have not only contributed greatly to school activities, but have also aided organizations of civic importance to the community.

"Good morning!" "Have you checked up on that truant boy yet?" "May I speak to you for a moment, Mr. Ferrell?" . . . so goes the early morning conversation in the office, where the faculty report before going to their home rooms.

The faculty enjoys one of several teas given during the year . . . with all the kids gone, they give a sigh of relief as they sip their tea and enjoy a delicious cupcake.

Third High

These are the people who maintained an average of ninety-one per cent or above during their four years of high school. They number sixty, one of the largest groups from Central ever to become members of the National Honor Society.

These are the people who placed scholarship on such a high plane that they were willing to sacrifice to maintain it. All honor to them!

Juniors

The capable officers of the junior class were Tom West, vice-president, Jane Goff, secretary-treasurer, and Jack Coppens, president.

I've got a driver's license now . . . I know most of the teachers . . . lots of the seniors speak to me . . . we're at the halfway point . . . we no longer have to sit in the balcony for pep assemblies . . . this year we're running in the Student Council elections . . . I've won a part in the play . . . they're training me for a staff job on the Interlude . . . they let me sit on a float in the Mishawaka Day parade . . . the prom was dreamy . . . I can hardly wait for the one next year when we're seniors. And so it goes with the junior class.

The committee planned the posters, tickets, decorations, programs, refreshments, the good time — in short, Stardust Fantasy, the Junior Dance.

Sophomores

"One year down and three to go," said the sophomores as they voted for their class officers. Jean Burkhart served as the secretary-treasurer, Dwight Oberholtzer as the president, and Shirley Bill as the vice-president.

Let me shift . . . my dad's going to give me driving lessons in a month . . . golly, what a neat car . . . now that we're sophomores we don't always have to ride the bus home.

Kids need more than "readin," "ritin" and "rith-metic" in this day and age if they are to be successful in their adult years. It calls for a real education. Many a boy — and girl — has gone to college because a savings account eased the financial strain.
